Azure Information Protection Services (AIP)

Cognizant | Microsoft

Cognizant advises on, implements and manages enterprise data discovery, data classification and data protection solutions leveraging Microsoft Azure Information Protection Services (AIP). A strong partnership with Microsoft and experience implementing AIP across transformation initiatives on the Azure cloud mean Cognizant is well placed to offer a complete suite of protection services centered around data.

Enterprise scenarios delivered by Cognizant:

- Enumerate the file shares/network shares across the enterprise as part of a larger asset discovery exercise

- Discover sensitive data using AIP across the enterprise landscape

- Classify the data in alignment with enterprise data classification policy

- Design and build Azure rights management system (RMS) templates

- Tailor RMS permissions to accommodate special requests from business groups.

- Integrate AIP with other third-party data classification and information rights management (IRM) solutions

- Integrate AIP with third-party data loss prevention (DLP) solutions

- Ingest AIP logs into third-party security incident event management (SIEM) solutions

Delivery Excellence

- Experience mapping data classification policies with RMS templates and creating custom templates in enterprise-wide AIP rollouts

- Efficient porting of on-premises data classification policies to AIP

- Large resource pool across the globe offers dedicated and managed services

Time to market

- Readily available scripts for major platforms to enumerate unstructured data stores across the enterprise to aid AIP data discovery and classification

- Discover access permissions across data stores, consolidate permissions and initiate access remediation by integrating with IAM solution

Cost savings

- Managed services for business as usual support—Ticket based pricing

- Integrated delivery for implementing Azure native security controls —Identity & access, data, infrastructure and risk compliance

Why customers choose Cognizant

- Data protection and privacy offerings protect data through its entire life cycle

- Extensive experience protecting data at rest, in transit and in use

- Strategic partnership with Microsoft enables seamless AIP rollout across the enterprise

- Microsoft trained and certified professionals
